NEW CLEW IN KID M'COY SHOOTING

Bullet Mark In House of Tragedy Provides Police With More Evidence

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—Discovery of a furrow plowed by a bullet in the wall of the apartments where Mrs. Teresa Mors, whom "Kid" McCoy is accused of having murdered, was found dead, today furnished investigators with the first tangible evidence on which to reconstruct the circumstances of Mrs. Mors' death.

The furrow was found by detectives who made a painstaking examination of the apartment.

Like Bullet Mark

On the door between the tiny kitchen and the living room, where Mrs. Mors' body was found the officers discovered a crease in the wood about four inches in length and ranging downward. It had all the appearances of a bullet mark and a .32 calibre bullet, the same as caused the death of Mrs. Mors, fitted it perfectly.

Taking a position in the kitchen, Detective Edward King pointed a revolver so that the course of an imaginary bullet fired from the gun would pass along the furrow in the wall. Extending the imaginary course of the bullet, the officers found that it struck the lounge on which Mrs. Mors was lying when she was killed, as indicated by blood stains.

With these facts in hand the officers decided that McCoy shot Mrs. Mors from the kitchen while she was lying on the lounge, her head buried in the cushions, probably weeping as the result of her quarrel with the former pugilist.

The discovery of the bullet furrow was the outstanding development in the investigation today, overshadowing even the coroner's inquest over Mrs. Mors' body, because, the investigators said, it struck a severe blow at McCoy's story that Mrs. Mors committed suicide.

Sees Ex-Wife's Body

Albert J. Mors, divorced husband of the dead woman, was called upon to view the bullet-pierced body of his former wife at the coroner's inquest this afternoon. Assistant Captain of Detectives Herman Cline told Mors he would be required to identify the body at the inquest.

Mrs. Mors' safety deposit box in a Hollywood bank was opened this afternoon and found to be empty. There was not a trace of the $30,000 worth of smuggled jewels which federal agents sought.

Fearful that in view of startling new developments in the case, he may attempt suicide; the authorities today ordered a heavy guard placed over McCoy, in the city jail.

District Attorney Asa Keyes ordered that two special guards be placed outside the cell of McCoy and these be maintained both day and night.

Keyes' action was said to be based in part on the fact that Hubert Kittle, dare-devil aviator and bandit, friend of McCoy, killed himself here three months ago rather than face trial for alleged participation in the Arcadia bank robbery case.

Thousands to Dare Desert's Dangers to See Indians Dance

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 15.—Five thousand persons were gathered here today from all parts of the country preparing to make a final drive into the painted desert to witness the Hopi Indians' weird snake dance Monday. Hoteville, 100 miles from here, will be the scene of the strange spectacle.

After nine days of shouting of chants and special ceremonials, the snake dance will be staged as a final effort to bring rain to the Indians' desert land.

There is not a hotel or restaurant within more than ninety miles of Hoteville, and all the visitors here today will be forced to "pack" food and water.

OFFER IDEAS ON MOTOR TRAFFIC

Writers to Safety Week Editor of Evening News Offer Suggestions

Suggestions that will cause motorists to stop and think are contained in the letters printed today, a few of the many received by the Safety Week Editor of The Glendale Evening News during the traffic letter contest. Changes in present traffic laws are recommended by some, new traffic laws are urged by others, while all unite in appealing to the motorist to "stop and think" as a means of avoiding accidents.

The first prize in the contest was awarded by the three judges, M. Walters, Cameron D. Thom and Henry Kuhn, all members of the Citizens' Traffic commission, to George H. Ashbaugh, rural route No. 2, while the second prize was awarded to Joe V. Griffin, a fireman attached to Central station at 311 East Broadway.

There were so many letters submitted, all of which contained val-

ROUGH DANCE IS BLAMED ON MUSIC

Muscles Respond to Each Twist, Slur or Tempo, Declares Expert

By ROLAND KREBS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It's not the dancers at all, but the music, which is to blame for the rough and tumble dancing, the International Association of Masters of Dancing was told here today at its convention.

Edward Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., said so. He based his conclusions on observations made as one of a committee sent by the convention to tour exclusive roof gardens, less exclusive cabarets and downright dives in Greenwich village.

'Please Lay Off'

Hurst wants the International and National associations to appoint a joint commission to meet the Associated Dancers and to beg them to please lay off.

"All over the body," Hurst said, "are muscles, each responsive to some twist, slur or tempo in music. The farmer boy who doesn't know how to dance a step can't help stamping his foot when he hears 'Turkey in the Straw.' Other bits of music make other parts of the body respond with emotion."

Sub-consciously, Hurst explained, a sedate couple who might wish for all the world to dance a stately Schottische, could not control these responsive muscles when they hear the music popular with a majority of dance orchestras.

So, in no time at all, these people are twisting and bouncing and shimmying with the rest of them.

"This illustrates it," Hurst said. "We went into one of those places in the village. Girls and boys danced these animal dances as toughly as possible. Then, for a change, the orchestra would strike up a waltz or a tango. These same little ruffians would instantly become pictures of grace and dignity, responding to the music."

YANKEES' FLIGHT AGAIN POSTPONED

Wind and Rain Prevent Aviators From Starting To Angmagsalik

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 15. (by wireless)—On account of wind and rain, Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson, United States army round-the-world air pilots, today postponed their flight to Angmagsalik, Greenland. They plan to hop off tomorrow morning if weather conditions permit and the cruiser Raleigh reports favorable conditions for landing at the Greenland port.

The cruiser Richmond has left for Greenland waters while destroyers are stationed en route, waiting for the Yank airmen.

According to a radiogram from the cruiser Raleigh, there is still much ice in the Angmagsalik harbor, but Lieutenant Schulz, advance flight officer, and Lieutenant Leigh Wade believe that there is not too much for landing.

When seventy miles off Angmagsalik, the Raleigh reported bad weather. The weather was stormy here Wednesday night, followed by sunshine Thursday and another period of bad weather today.

GERMANY AGREES TO RUHR TERMS

Delegation Will Be Certain To Sign, Belief; to Submit Reply

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—It was learned from excellent authority this afternoon the German delegates at London are almost certain to sign the French terms for Ruhr evacuation, unless there is an eleventh hour hitch.

Another cabinet council was held and it was still in session at 2 o'clock. It was regarded as unlikely that a unanimous decision could be reached or that even a majority could be lined up.

President Ebert, it was learned, told the ministerial council that Germany's rejection of the London terms would mean the overthrow of Premier Herriot, which would be disastrous for Germany.

German Delegation to Make Conciliatory Reply

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A conciliatory reply to France's proposals for evacuation of the Ruhr was drawn up for presentation this afternoon by the German delegation to the allied reparations conference.

In some quarters it was said that Germany's answer was "virtual acceptance" of the French terms. International News Service was informed, however, that the reply makes acceptance possible, but that further negotiations probably would be necessary.

The German communication is a lengthy document. It was drafted after President Ebert had communicated the gist of German political views to Chancellor Marx.

Berlin virtually placed responsibility for the reply upon the German conference delegation but it is understood that the ministers in Berlin suggested counter proposals as a possible means of obtaining better evacuation terms for the Germans.

The Germans planned to ask France and Belgium to state their demands in a diplomatic note to which Germany will reply. Germany considers her rights have been injured here, maintaining that the separate Ruhr negotiations have not been conducted in the spirit of the conference.

However, the Germans had no alternative but submit, announcing tentative acceptance under duress.

Chancellor Marx and his colleagues had decided to accept the French Ruhr terms last night, but received word from Berlin that President Ebert wished to have conference with various political leaders first so the Teuton envoys postponed action until today.

The German delegation called on Premier Macdonald late today.

GIVE REPORTS ON VARIOUS PROJECTS

Fourth Street Improvement Association Is Making Rapid Progress

Consideration of the change of the name of the Fourth Street Improvement association to the Greater Northwest Improvement association, was a feature of the meeting last night in the Grand View school, and, according to the by-laws, the matter was laid on the table until the next meeting, September 11, when definite action will be taken.

J. H. Randall presided over the meeting, which was attended by forty-five members.

A report was given by a representative of the road committee, who stated that gratifying progress had been made during the past month on the new cross-town boulevard, the City Planning commission having approved the project, and the City Council having officially adopted same.

Plan of Action

The plan is for the Glenoaks Improvement association to look after the proper routing of this boulevard into and through the city of Pasadena, while the Fourth Street Improvement association will take up the matter of securing the co-operation of Burbank, Roscoe and San Fernando in routing the boulevard to the city of San Fernando. George B. Egbert was appointed to attend to this matter.

A letter was read from P. J. Hayselden, secretary of the City Planning commission, to the effect that the commission had approved the new cross-town boulevard and that a forty-foot street was established on each side of the Pacific Electric tracks from Pacific avenue to Alameda street and the city building inspector notified accordingly.

Get New Members

According to the report from the membership committee, forty new members have been added to the association. It was decided to reduce the membership dues

Imports Into U. S. Exceed Exports by Total of $400,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Imports of $278,400,000 to the United States in July exceeded exports by $400,000, the department of commerce announced today.

In July, 1923, exports were $140,000,000 greater than imports. For the first seven months of 1924 the United States had a favorable trade balance of $239,000,000, compared to an unfavorable trade balance of $172,000,000 for 1923.

BIG INCREASE IN WATER STORAGE

Glendale's Capacity to Be Doubled Through Use Of New Reservoir

Glendale's present water storage capacity will be doubled when the city's new reservoir, located at Tenth and Mountain streets, is filled, it was announced today by City Manager V. B. Stone. The reservoir, recently completed, is being filled today for the first time, City Manager Stone said.

The reservoir has a capacity of 15,000,000 gallons, according to Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production, and the total cost reached $78,200. In addition to the cost of the reservoir, Mr. Diederich said, the city expended $5,000 on pipe work and painting.

To Operate at Night

The opening of the new reservoir will enable the city to operate their pumps at night, Mr. Diederich said, where it has been necessary to do considerable pumping in the daytime to keep up with the demands. The pumping will be mainly done between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., he said.

Officials of the plant and production department inspected the reservoir yesterday and water was pumped into it to test it for leakage. When it was discovered that all joints were tight, orders were given to start pumping today to fill it.

The city will beautify the grounds around the new reservoir, City Manager Stone said, in order that the location will not appear so unsightly.

2 AVIATORS UNINJURED; CRAFT IS WRECKED

Ship In Descending Hits Cross Air Current And Tips Over

A navy observation plane, No. 2-7, attached to the airport squadron of the battle fleet at San Diego, crashed at the Glendale Airport at 10:15 o'clock this morning while making a landing.

The pilot, Lieut. Hugo Schmidt, executive officer of the squadron, and his passenger, Aviation Pilot Wallace, escaped injury, although their plane was a total wreck.

The plane was one of a squadron of three ships which left North Island, San Diego, at 8:10 o'clock this morning to make radio test on cross-country flying, intending to come to the Glendale Airport and return late this afternoon.

Lieut. Schmidt attempted to land at the north end of the field. This method of landing was necessary, he declared, on account of power wires across the south end of the field.

Hits Air Current

As the ship was descending, and was directly above a large clump of trees, it struck a cross current of air or an air pocket, and went into a spin. The plane struck the ground at an estimated rate of speed of 55 miles an hour and tipped over.

The landing gear of the ship was broken off with a noise that was heard for some distance, one wing crumpled and the fuselage caved in.

Lieut. Commander Dichman, who was in charge of the squadron of three planes, was piloting the second ship, carrying Lieut. W. D. Garrett, while Lieut. G. H. DeBaun was pilot of the third ship, carrying Chief Radio Operator Wolf.

Object of Trip.

Another plane has left North Island en route to Glendale, and will take Lieut. Schmidt and Aviation Pilot Wallace back tonight.

The object of the trip, it was stated, was to make daylight radio tests, sending and receiving from airplanes while engaged in cross country flights. The three ships took off at San Diego at 8:10 o'clock this morning and tests were made all the way.

Lieut. Commander Dichman stated that he intended to confer with the officials of the Los An-

Jeweler Pays First Purchase Instalment

On all purchases of $15 or more in the jewelry line, R. L. Cole, jeweler, 106 East Broadway, makes the first payment and the balance which is due may be paid in installments around $1 or $2 a week. This special offer is put on by Mr. Cole as a feature of a new account drive for the month of August and will last only a very limited time.

It is satisfying to note, states Mr. Cole, that while this is supposed to be the vacation season there are a great many more people in town than is usual at this time of the year. The drive has met with excellent success to the present date and has been instrumental in placing many new names on his records.

New shipments of jewelry are arriving every day to keep the stock always complete and of good variety.

The most active lines are millinery and work clothing.

GIRL SCOUTS IN SPECIAL SESSION

Troop No. 1 Holds Meeting And Receives Twenty New Members

Impressive in its formality and enjoyable in its spirit of good fellowship was the gathering yesterday afternoon of Troop 10, Glendale Girl Scouts, at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church.

The real feature of the affair was the investiture of twenty tenderfoot Scouts, this ceremony being accompanied by other events of great interest to the Scouts and their guests.

Meeting at the church at 3 o'clock the girls participated in a mock initiation, that proved most entertaining.

At 5 o'clock the formal ceremony was held in charge of Miss Gladys Sharpe, captain; Mary Stanley, first lieutenant; and Lucile Beach, second lieutenant. All those taking part were in full Girl Scout uniform.

Receive Members

Those invested as tenderfoot scouts were Laura Nelson, Eloise Biddle, Bernice Van Gilse, Dorothy Vernon, Genevieve Marek, Grace Staat, Katherine Browne, Dorothy Sorbes, Eunice Jones, Dorothy Doane, Lois Archambault, Betty Biggs, Katherine Lloyd, Virginia Lloyd, Virginia Wymore, Marjorie Packard, Edna Lange, Helen Stanley, Marion de Bey and Caroline Spradling. Each one of these girls has successfully passed all tenderfoot requirements and all have been connected with the troop for over one month.

Martha Fleming was invested as a second-class Scout.

Later a delicious luncheon was served by troop officers and members of the Eagle patrol. Shades of pink were used in decorating the tables. Streamers of pink crepe paper, pink napkins and lovely pink flowers were features. The placecards bore the Girl Scout emblem.

During dinner the Girl Scouts' song was sung and before bidding each other farewell the girls sang their troop song.

Guest of Honor

Special guests were Mrs. F. A. Beach, Girl Scout commissioner; Mrs. W. L. Wichert, secretary of the council; Mrs. J. E. Buie, captain of Troop 6; Mrs. Avis Thimm, lieutenant of Troop 5.

Those arranging the ceremonial and luncheon were Miss Margaret Sharpe, captain; Mary Stanley, first lieutenant; Lucile Beach, Alice Carpenter, Frederica Browne, second lieutenant; Katherine Bender, Alexandria Bagley, Cecil Chase, Lina Borthick, Lucile Harris, Martha Fleming of the Eagle patrol.

Redondo Beach friends of the family are anticipating having them spend the summer weekends at the beach. The Daily Breeze says: "Friends will deeply regret losing the Orgibet family, who for years here held a prominent place in all business, civic and social activities. Mrs. Orgibet will be especially missed in the Woman's club and Mr. Orgibet in organizations standing for civic betterment and advancement."

Odd Fellows Plan to Finance Orphan Home

The project of financing a new building at the I. O. O. F. Orphans' home at Gilroy was discussed last night at the meeting of Glendale Odd Fellows in the lodge hall at 201-A East Broadway.

During the evening it was announced that the Glendale team won the second game of five hundred at Van Nuys and the players are now looking forward to a chicken dinner given by the Van Nuys lodge men. The Glendale lodge is to give a public dance on August 30.

Candidate For Supervisor

HENRY W. WRIGHT, candidate for re-election to the board of supervisors from the fifth district, whose friends today issue a statement in behalf of his candidacy.

Friends of Henry W. Wright, candidate for re-election as member of the board of supervisors from the Fifth district, which includes Glendale, today requested The Glendale Evening News to publish the following statement in regard to the supervisor's candidacy:

"Supervisor Henry W. Wright, who is a candidate for re-election this year, has an enviable record in public service.

"Beginning his career in Iowa, his native state, thirty years ago, he was purchasing agent for one of the state's largest public institutions for eight years, going from there to the position of secretary of the state board of control of Minnesota for five years, a board having charge of all the state institutions of Minnesota.

"Coming to California in 1904, he soon became identified with local and state affairs and, after serving one term as trustee of the city of Huntington Park, was elected to the state legislature from the Sixty-Ninth assembly district. He was re-elected to the assembly for four successive terms, serving two terms as chairman of the important ways and means committee, and being twice unanimously elected speaker.

"By virtue of his position in the legislature, he was for four years a regent ex-officio of the University of California, and rendered valuable assistance in securing a branch of the state university for Southern California at Los Angeles.

"During the World war he was appointed by President Wilson a member of the district draft board for Southern California, and, with his colleagues on the board, during twelve months of service, considered and passed on more than 15,000 claims.

"Three years ago he was appointed by the governor a member of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county, to fill the vacancy, and two years ago, he was elected for the remainder of that term.

"Supervisor Wright has resided in South Pasadena in the Fifth district for twelve years, is a Republican in politics, a Methodist in religion, a Mason, and a firm believer in American institutions of government.

"The needs of Glendale and adjacent territory at the hands of the board of supervisors is keenly appreciated and fully understood by Supervisor Wright and, due to his experience and knowledge of county affairs, this district will undoubtedly receive its share of constructive attention," concludes the statement.

JUDGE SHELDON IS SPEAKER HERE

District Attorney Candidate Addresses Meeting at Harvard School

Judge Caryl Sheldon, candidate for district attorney, addressed a meeting at the Harvard High school last night. He advocated four specific reforms as being vitally necessary to a proper conduct of the district attorney's office. He said:

"First—Branch offices at Long Beach, Ocean Park, San Fernando, Pasadena and Pomona.

"Second—Classifying the work into departments with an expert as specialist in charge of each department.

"Third—A thorough sifting of complaints. No arrests made without proper evidence. Hundreds of men are detained in the county jail for days, weeks and months, then discharged without prosecution for lack of evidence.

Costly to Taxpayers

"There were 1543 such cases last year—an injustice to the prisoners, and a great injustice to the taxpayers. The average cost of each case in the district attorney's office alone is $1432. It costs the taxpayers $27,800 a month to run the district attorney's office.

"Fourth—Reform needed in the employment of officers who are clean, straight fellows and who will not drink up the evidence in bootlegging cases. San Francisco has the name of being lawless, yet its district attorney has closed and locked up over 300 liquor selling establishments; Oxnard, in Ventura county, a small city, 24 cases; Shasta county, with but 3 per cent the size of Los Angeles county, 23 cases, and Los Angeles, none.

Opposes Compromise

"This county has a most extraordinary record for crime, and one of the chief causes is compromising with criminals, in mitigating the charge, if they will plead guilty. For example, an offender arrested for driving an automobile while drunk is only charged with reckless driving if he pleads guilty.

"During my term as judge I have handled 10,000 cases, 7000 of them liquor cases. I have only suspended sentence in two cases. Under my ruling thousands and thousands of gallons of homemade intoxicating wine has been confiscated. I have turned in from fines over $400,000 in cash to the county treasury. Three thousand men have been sent to jail, and, if elected to the office of district attorney, my motto shall be 'No compromise with criminals.'

LINE UP BOXERS FOR ELKS' JINKS

Music and Watermelons Are Other Features for Guests of Lodge

The program that is to be presented at the Elks lodge on Monday night, August 18, when the High Jinks of the order are to be staged, will be featured by a program of five bouts that will bring together some of the best leather pushers in the Southland, according to an announcement by Ray L. Galvin, chairman of the jinks committee, this morning. Kid Essex, the local boxer, is assisting in the selection of the boys who will mingle in the different events and promises to present a well balanced card.

Another specialty on the program will be several musical selections to be rendered by artists selected by Al Cawood proprietor of the Egyptian Village.

Watermelon Feed

But the big event of the night's entertainment, says Mr. Galvin, will be a watermelon feed that will permit everyone to eat all the fruit he wants and no holds will be barred when the B. P. O. E. line up for the attack on the melons.

The object of the High Jinks is to raise money to send the Elks band to the annual convention that is to be held at Catalina Island from September 17 to 20, and all Elks are urged to attend and to bring their friends.

Adding the plum to this musical feast, Dvorak's entire "New World" symphony will be played. Into this symphony the Bohemian has woven many of the most plaintive old negro melodies.

WHAT WILL PEOPLE THINK?

When a woman was asked if she did not object to carrying home a rather large package wrapped in a newspaper she replied that she did not object in the least and that if anyone thought the less of her for it they were welcome to their opinion. "I have long since got over caring what people think," she said.

A great many people not so sensible as this woman make themselves miserable worrying about what people will think when the most trivial item is involved. Many women would not be seen carrying a package of any kind, some will carry a bundle in plain wrapping paper, but draw the line at a parcel wrapped in a newspaper. Men are much more sensible in this regard, and yet members of the sex have been known to refuse to carry a bouquet of flowers on the street or in the street car for fear of what other men might think.

It is well to be neat in appearance, but if the family finances make it seem desirable for father to wear his suit a little longer than he would under ordinary circumstances or for mother to make her one afternoon dress do duty on every occasion, there is no need of being miserable because of what people will think. It is entirely a family matter. Don't be in bondage to what people will think.

EDUCATION IS NECESSARY FOR DRIVERS

In the news columns of The Glendale Evening News of yesterday there appeared a report of an address made before a luncheon club by a representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California brought to this city in connection with this newspaper's Safety Week. He quoted many facts and figures to prove the necessity of careful auto driving. One of the points he stressed was THAT LESS THAN ONE PER CENT OF AUTO ACCIDENTS ARE CAUSED BY MECHANICAL TROUBLE, WHILE 95 PER CENT ARE DUE TO IGNORANCE, LACK OF EDUCATION AND INCOMPETENCY OF DRIVERS. Truly, there is food for thought! With the auto steadily increasing, it becomes more necessary that the safety problem be seriously considered. The speaker said that legislative measures are needed to control the issuance of licenses to incompetent drivers. A good thought, that. The west has pioneered in good highways, but we are behind in the securing of safety. In brief, safe driving is a matter of education. Let's have more propaganda like that of Safety Week!

HOTEL GLENDALE IS ASSURED

The Glendale Evening News extends congratulations to those men and women who have worked long and faithfully on the task of securing a large hotel for the northeast corner of East Broadway and Glendale avenue. They have overcome many obstacles, and now, with construction work actually under way, they may be justly proud of their efforts. Had these men and women been of a different type, they would have been disheartened by the obstacles; they would have been stopped by the difficulties arising. But they displayed that they have the real Glendale spirit. They displayed that disappointment after disappointment only spurred them on to their goal. And now material is on the ground, the contractor and his force of men are at work, and in a comparatively short time there will arise at East Broadway and Glendale avenue a fine hotel—a monument to the men and women who have faith in themselves and faith in Glendale.

GUARD AGAINST FOREST FIRES

The head of the Glendale fire department has detailed several of his men for night patrol duty in territory close to Glendale to guard against brush and forest fires. Also, the fire patrol, made up of enthusiastic citizens, is holding meetings and drills so that they may be of service should fire menace the surrounding territory. Other sections of the state have been visited by serious fires this summer. Fortunately, no serious blaze has occurred in this vicinity to date. The officials and others are doing a good work in taking precautionary measures. Their services may not be needed—let us hope that they will not be called out to fight a fire—but they are displaying a real community spirit in forming an organization of protection. They are doing right and acting wisely in their precautionary move.

SAFE MAN TO HAVE IN WHITE HOUSE

More than 25,000,000 persons last night heard Calvin Coolidge say that he accepted the nomination of the Republican party for president of the United States. Of course, they heard him over the radio. The president delivered his speech of acceptance, a comprehensive document of nearly 7000 words, in a hall at Washington containing about 2000 persons. He discussed the problems of the day in a sane manner. He did not dodge big issues. He stated his stand on important questions. He dealt with foreign and domestic affairs. His speech of acceptance was NOT a bid for votes. He put forth an effort that showed careful study, clear understanding of public affairs, and through it all, displayed that he has a mind of his own, and is willing to abide by what he thinks and does. Calvin Coolidge is a safe man to have in the White House.

READY TO CALL FOR SEWER BIDS

The City Council is about to make another start on the construction of Glendale's sewerage system. We are assured that all of the necessary legal proceedings have been completed, that the city of Los Angeles has complied with requirements and that now a call for bids on the bonds is in order. We sincerely trust that there will be no further delays, and that work will soon actually begin. Lack of the sewage disposal plant has held back large capital from being invested in Glendale. However, we are now assured that it is only a comparatively short time before work on the system will be under way. The completion of the big project cannot come any too soon for the good of Glendale.

RE-ELECT JUDGE SHAW TO SUPERIOR COURT

It gives The Glendale Evening News pleasure to be a part of the organized effort to re-elect Judge Hartley Shaw to the Superior court of Los Angeles county. Judge Shaw is a Glendale citizen. He is a fine type of man, and his abilities as a jurist are recognized throughout the state. He has the endorsement of the Long Beach, Los Angeles and Glendale bar associations, and there is every reason to believe that he will be accorded a record vote. Glendale is proud of Judge Shaw and will, no doubt, give him a practically unanimous vote.

IT IS A BIG JOB!

Fiction

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Men will always love fiction, just as children love stories.

Fiction is an escape from the commonplace.

It brings to the mind the sense of adventure.

In fiction the mind is freed from its conventions, each man becomes the hero and does the impossible.

Fiction, to be entertaining, must preserve sufficient probability and, at the same time, must bring in the impossible and make it seem plausible.

In fiction there is roundness and completeness which life lacks. In fiction they are married and live happily ever after in spite of the fact that we know that when they are married their troubles only begin.

Our love of completeness finds its food only in fiction, as in actual life there is no completeness, but the solution of one problem is simply the creation of others.

In a sense it is more difficult to create fiction that shall be entertaining than it is to write history. For there must be an effort of the creative imagination and the plot as completed must gratify instincts which life does not.

The bones, or framework, of a story is its plot, and unless there be sufficient plot the characters created cannot stand out alone, but must collapse. For this reason, fiction that is true to life, absolutely, is interesting. There must be plot enough to carry all this. Hence the plot is the thing.

The moral of any fiction must be contained in itself. It all depends upon the taste that is left in your mouth after reading it.

This is the ultimate effect of all stories. Their men are worth while and their story is good, not only in proportion as your interest is sustained, but in proportion as your whole telling has stimulated life.

Some affect to admire true stories. The story that is absolutely true to life is never interesting, for what we desire is that life shall be untrue and that the impossible shall be real. Therefore, the story which deals frankly with impossibilities, but makes them probable, is more interesting.

Today's Poem

AND FAIR"

She was young and blithe and fair,
Firm of purpose, sweet and strong;
Perfect was her crown of hair,
Perfect most of all her song.

Yesterday beneath an oak,
She was chanting in the wood;
Wandering harmonies awoke;
Sleeping echoes understood.

Today without a song, without a word,
She seems to drag one piteous fallen wing
Along the ground, and, like a wounded bird,
Move silent, having lost the heart to sing.

She was young, and blithe and fair,
Firm of purpose, sweet and strong;
Perfect was her crown of hair,
Perfect most of all her song.

Who's Who

The financial director of the League of Nations, who says Germany cannot pay reparations, is an American visitor. He is Sir Arthur Salter, regarded as one of foremost financial authorities of Europe and identified particularly with the rehabilitation of Austria.

After having served his government as transport and shipping expert during the war, Sir Arthur became secretary of the Allied Maritime Council in 1917 and chairman of the Allied Maritime Transport Executive in 1918, when he visited this country upon a special shipping mission.

He became secretary of the British Department of the Supreme Economic Council in 1919 and was general secretary of the Reparation Commission in Paris from 1920 to 1922. He resigned that post to take his present position.

Sir Arthur, a bachelor, was born in England in 1881. He entered the government service in 1904 as an admiralty clerk.

NO BAR TO THEM

The publisher called in his secretary.

"Tell the janitor to put up notices that no book agents are to be admitted to the building," he said.

"But you have just advertised for agents to sell our new book," protested the secretary.

"Of course. I want to try the applicant out. If a man could be stopped by a little thing like that what good would he be to us?"

SOMETHING AWFUL

The young married women went home to her mother and sobbingly declared she just couldn't be happy with her husband again.

"I wouldn't have minded it so much, mother," she wailed, "if Charlie had answered me back when I scolded him, bu—bu—but he did something worse."

Her mother was duly shocked at this.

"Mercy, my dear child," she exclaimed. "He struck you, then?"

"No, worse than that, mother," —and the young wife sobbed afresh.

"Tell me at once," indignantly demanded her mother.

"He—he just yawned."

An English manufacturer has invented synthetic eggs.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I have referred so often to the time when I was more fortunate financially than I am today that I have no doubt I am considered rather a bore. But I bring the matter up here just to emphasize the fact that I am well content with my present circumstances. There may be some who will charge me with a lack of ambition, for contentment, I know, does not lead to growth. But I will answer with the statement that I am ambitious to do the best I can and I am always studying how to advance in my calling.

I have tried very hard to get the point of view of certain men with whom I work, but I have been unable to do so. I refer to those who are eternally dissatisfied. I have all the sympathy in the world with the one who is unsatisfied, the one who wishes to better himself and is tied down in some way, or the one who is never satisfied with his accomplishments. But I cannot sympathize with the one who is always dissatisfied.

On the whole, there never was a time when working men were so well paid and so well treated as today in the United States. I know something of working conditions in other countries, and I cannot understand this tendency on the part of American working men to try to strike the hand that feeds them every chance they get.

There are degrees of usefulness among workers, and, while the work I am doing requires a certain amount of skill and calls for some preparation and training, it is nothing but what the ordinary man could learn in a few years, so I have no exaggerated idea of my worth to my employer. I ask and get what others are being paid for the same work, and I feel that the nature of the job and the skill and training involved would not justify anyone giving me more.

But there are some who feel they must be everlastingly at war with the man or men they work for. There must be enmity between employer and employe. They think that giving their best service is a sign of weakness, and that any effort at co-operation with the company would be treachery to their fellow employes and all wage earners everywhere. I know that the men I work for are not more fortunate than I or any of their employes, but they are more capable executives and harder workers. I know at what enormous risk they have built up this industry, and that if they had "knocked off" at the end of an eight-hour day as the rest of us do, they would have no business now, and all of us workers would be looking for jobs. I know these men have tried to be fair with their employes, and, while I am a union man, there is nothing in such affiliation to compel me to hate my employers and try to injure them. I am getting fair treatment and good pay. The way to get more is to make myself capable of earning it, and that is what I am trying to do.

A Bashful Stove Salesman

One of our many customers phoned the office the other day and asked for the manager of the stove department, and said:

This is Mrs. ——— of so and so address, and I recently had one of your wonderful Direct Action Gas Ranges installed, one without the bottom in the oven, and I just want to tell you that the young man who sold me that stove did not say half enough about it. Why, he didn't begin to tell me all the wonderful things that the Lorain Regulator will do. Yes, I just love my stove, and I can't begin to say enough about it. And my sister, who lives over in Eagle Rock, wants one just like mine, and you have the young man go see her and tell him not to be so bashful.

Steel Companies See Good Business Ahead

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15.—Officials of steel companies are in a more cheerful mood than for weeks. No large orders are appearing, and prices continue weak in some lines, but the expectation is such that prices have taken a secondary place in consideration of the situation. One important revelation with regard to price, however, is that sheet mills have been selling full finished automobile body sheet at 5 cents, and one large maker of autos has secured supplies at 4.85 cents. Orders are gaining slightly in wire products, although buyers appear to be covering only their immediate needs. Both standard and line pipe are in better call, and even boiler tubes are firming up slightly.

Church Dynamited as Pastor Battles Vice

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The First Baptist church, whose pastor, Rev. A. B. Mercer, has been engaged in a vigorous anti-vice campaign, was mysteriously dynamited and badly damaged.

In some quarters it is suspected the dynamiting was done or instigated by members of the underworld.

Every window in the church was shattered. Plaster was ripped from the walls and windows and doors wrecked. The foundation, however, withstood the blast.

EXPOSITION WILL BRING EXHIBITS

Industrial Display Planned By Burbank to Attract Southland Cities

BURBANK, Aug. 15.—Universal City, North Hollywood, Ventura boulevard and Glendale, through their Chambers of Commerce have accepted the invitation of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce and will be represented at the San Fernando Valley industrial exhibition at Burbank September 9 to 13 by creditable exhibits. Hollywood is certain to be properly represented, according to word received at exposition headquarters. Van Nuys is already busy with preparations for installing an exhibit worthy of that community, and the Lankershim civic organization is doing the same thing. San Fernando is being aroused to the importance of the affair and promises an exhibit.

Applications for space in which to make exhibits are being received from manufacturing plants located throughout the valley. Many of these institutions, like the great Sylmar olive oil packing plant at San Fernando, maintain their headquarters in Los Angeles and definite announcements of space reservations and exhibits necessarily await the pleasure of the head officers—but word is drifting into headquarters every day that dozens of these institutions are planning for comprehensive exhibits and elaborate representations.

Accept Invitations

Every industry of any nature that has been approached and invited to make a display of its wares has accepted the invitation, while scores of others have fired in their applications for space without waiting for the invitation. These evidences of interest on the part of the manufacturers is proof palpable that the success of the exposition is already assured. Interest in the contest for queen is just as engaging, while at the side of the exposition the work of placing everything in readiness is being carried forward by a large force of builders and decorators.

Welcome Soldiers

The city officials will participate in a public welcoming next Sunday morning in honor of the homecoming of Capt. Frank Tillson and his Company I, California National Guard, warriors who are returning on that day from their two weeks' encampment at Del Monte.

Nine girls of Burbank are enjoying a delightful week at the tent city at Belmont Beach which is between Long Beach and Seal Beach. They are Eileen Daniels, Frances Riley, Rachael Jones, Olive and Mary Gibbs, Gwendolyn Bradshaw, Grace Harding, Elizabeth Major and Dorris Hutcherson. They are chaperoned by Miss Margaret Moreland and Miss Mary Prime, who is of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Louchs and mother, Mrs. Mary A. Everett, recently of Glendale, who exchanged property with David Reed of 302 Chestnut street, are enjoying their location very much. Mr. Louchs, who was in the real estate business in Glendale, is finding pleasure in chicken culture and its incidentals.

IRISH WAR LOOMS

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—News of war-like threats came out of Ulster yesterday. A dispatch from Tyrone quoted W. T. Miller, a member of the Ulster parliament, as calling upon all Ulster men and women "to arm themselves against thte Irish Free State." Miller was quoted further as saying the "Huns were angels compared with some of the Free Staters."

Chicken Dinner Will Feature C. E. Program

SUNLAND, Aug. 15—A chicken dinner will be given at the Sunland Baptist church Friday night, August 29, by the young people of the Christian Endeavor society. Dr. Frances of Los Angeles will be the principal speaker and a special musical program is being arranged. Proceeds of the dinner will go toward paying for a piano that has been purchased by the C. E. society for use in their rooms in the basement.

Next Sunday Jesse Smith, son of Rev. W. E. Smith, will deliver the morning sermon, choosing the subject, "Come Follow Me, and I Will Make You Fishers of Men." Rev. Jesse Smith has just been ordained to the Baptist ministry and plans to attend Berkeley divinity school where he will complete his studies for the ministry. In the evening Rev. W. E. Smith will preach on "If the Unsaved Are Lost, Who Cares?" Special music will be arranged for both services.

Move Library Branch Into Permanent Home

TUJUNGA, Aug. 15—The Tujunga branch of the Los Angeles county free library is located in new and permanent quarters in a building on El Centro street, having been moved from Legion hall where it has occupied a small corner of the clubhouse for several years. The library branch was placed in Legion hall ten years ago when the hall was the community meeting place in the days of the Little Landers, as the township was then called. The building now occupied by the library was formerly the community co-operative store and has been remodeled especially to accommodate the librarian, Miss Gilmore. Special lighting arrangements have been made for the public reading room and shelves and cases installed for holding the books. Miss Gilmore, who has been librarian for several years, will continue in that capacity.

Common Sense School Opened by Architect

TUJUNGA, Aug. 15. — "The School of Common Sense" is a product of the versatile George Harris, exponent of rustic architecture, well known to radio listeners for his talks on the "Philosophy of the Hill Tribes" which he has given from Los Angeles broadcasting stations. The first unit of the school or clubhouse on Michigan avenue at Manzanita drive has been finished and Mr. Harris has issued this invitation, typical of himself: "The latch string is out at George Harris' house at Michigan avenue and Manzanita drive. Pull the string and go inside. Look—rest—take a nap—make yourself a cup of tea or coffee—help yourself—the house is yours. If you're cold within—or without—make for yourself a fire and dream a dream of dreams—it's just the place to do it.

TOURING CAR IS GIFT TO PASTOR

Members of Baptist Church Honor Rev. W. E. Smith At House Warming

SUNLAND, Aug. 15.—The esteem in which Rev. W. E. Smith, pastor of the Sunland Baptist church, is held was fully demonstrated Wednesday night at the new church, when, in the midst of a house-warming reception being given by the Christian Endeavor society, a new touring car was presented to him by the congregation. Mr. Nottage made the presentation in behalf of the congregation.

The purchase and presentation of the car were arranged so quietly that "Parson Bill," as his many friends call him, had no warning as to what was being done and the surprise with which he heard the speech of presentation and viewed the gift, which had been parked in front of the church, was complete. "Dumfounded," is the way "Parson Bill" expressed it afterwards.

Musical Program

The evening began as a social house-warming gathering, sponsored by the C. E. society, with over 100 of the congregation in attendance. A musical program by members of the congregation was followed by speaking by representatives of civic organizations of the Tujunga valley and of the church. The musical program included:

Instrumental solo, Miss Holly; vocal solo by Guy Smith, son of "Parson Bill"; two instrumental selections by Mr. Meredith; vocal solo, "The Billy Goat," by Guy and Jesse Smith, sons of the pastor; whistling solo by Mrs. Hermann; quartet, "Tell Mother I'll Be There," by Rev. Smith and three sons.

Speaking followed the musical program, which included talks by Mr. Kirschman of the Valley Center Improvement league, who spoke of the appreciation of the congregation and residents for the work done by Rev. Smith since he came to Sunland a year ago. During this time the pastor has had built a new $12,000 church which stands free of debt at its completion. Leo Smith, representing the Tujunga Kiwanis club, also voiced the esteem in which Rev. Smith is held by all in the valley. Homer Rice, representing the Sunland Chamber of Commerce, spoke of the work of the young people of the church.

Other Speakers

Representatives of the church who spoke were Fred Rapson of the Sunday school; Ernest Swaney, president of the Christian Endeavor society; Mrs. Barry, Ladies Aid society; Mrs. Leo Smith, home missionary circle; Rev. Smith, who spoke on the subject, "What the Church Stands for." The pastor also formally accepted the call of the church board to fill the pulpit another year. The program ended with the congregation singing "America."

GIVE IDEAS ON MOTOR TRAFFIC

Number of Suggestions by Writers to The News' Safety Week Editor

uable suggestions and hints, that The Glendale Evening News is printing a few of these letters each day, which are worthy of honorable mention.

Incompetent Drivers Cause of Accidents

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—The one suggestion of paramount importance for lessening the number of automobile accidents, I think all must admit, is that only persons in whose hands an automobile can be safely trusted be allowed to drive. Almost without exception, it is found that where an accident occurs, it was due to some incompetent or reckless driver.

When persons of every sort of mental complex are allowed to drive these heavy, fast-moving machines, how can it be hoped that accidents will be avoided? In Chicago recently it occurred to some official to test the eyesight of a number of persons who had been arrested for traffic violations, with the interesting result that several were found to be so color blind that they could not distinguish a red light from a yellow or white one, and others had a range of vision that did not extend beyond twenty feet. There is not another industry in the world that is not regulated by law so as to exclude unfit persons from positions of responsibilities involving danger to human life; but the automobile industry presents the anomaly of being the one big business where the most important and obvious rule of safety is disregarded, deliberately so, in order that the industry may flourish.

If only persons of tested fitness were permitted to drive, there would be vastly fewer drivers, and fewer automobiles in use; the streets would be vastly safer for everybody, but the industry would have hard sledding. According to statistics, fifty or more human lives are sacrificed in this country every day in order that the industry may continue on its present basis. Is it worth while? is the question which it would seem must eventually force itself upon the attention of the American people.

LEON A. SMITH,
5233 Sumner avenue, Los Angeles

Study Traffic Laws Instead of Fines

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—In response to your request that residents of Glendale give their views that might be for the betterment of traffic control, I am taking the liberty of voicing mine, gathered from being a constant traveler in traffic in Southern California. Also some rules used by cities in the middle states that have proved very efficient for both officers and reasonable drivers.

1—Let all state laws apply except where reduction of speed is necessary.

2—Use the boulevard stops.

3—Use the speed limit system in passing schools, just as we have it at present writing.

4—Discontinue left turn at congested intersections, where in doing so it will speed up traffic.

5—Do away with present fines system of dealing with violators of traffic regulations. In place of fines, sentence each one to study for two or more hours, the traffic laws. This to be done at police headquarters under the supervision of a competent traffic officer. The above has been put to test in other cities and found to be very satisfactory.

6—Don't be speedy about denouncing the officer on duty should he give you the customary tag. Chances are, he is right and obeying orders.

Very truly yours,
T. C. RYEKMAN,
719 E. Lomita.

Keep to Right Is Paramount Rule

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—Our present motor laws are fine if all motor drivers would observe them, but, one law in particular is broken more than any other and is the cause of many accidents, that is that of keeping to the right or driving close to the curb. Our motor police should see that this law is observed. The old laws along with the new ones I suggest should practically eliminate accidents:

1—The state should have a law compelling all new drivers to pass an examination before obtaining driver's license, also all present license holders who are found guilty of breaking the motor laws should have to pass this examination.

2—One standard brake for all cars and a testing station for brakes with the same ruling as our present headlight rules.

3—A copy of motor laws should be given to each license holder at time of renewing license.

4—Most of our accidents are at intersections, therefore I would suggest that this reminder be placed in an artistic way on every windshield: "Watch three directions at all intersections."

5—Cancel all motor car insurance.

6—Make one standard gearshift on all cars.

F. M. EDWARDS,
127 N. Columbus Ave.

Plain Clothes for Officers, Suggestion

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—The present traffic rules are clear and concise—and cover traffic conditions quite thoroughly. The fault or weakness is in not observing or not enforcing observance of the same.

Owing to the selfishness of human nature, it is impossible to have traffic rules obeyed without some fear of punishment for their violation. I would suggest that plain clothes men ride, walk or stand about in traffic and arrest ALL violators of traffic rules.

Where a driver expects a traffic officer in full dress uniform he is always on his good behavior, but where he thinks there is no officer he quickly forgets traffic rules for his own selfish interests.

When a violator is arrested, let there be no PARTIALITY or FAVORITISM shown.

A driver of an automobile or a pedestrian, who VIOLATES a traffic rule is A VIOLATOR, regardless of whether he is a Mason, an Elk, a Catholic or a Protestant, etc., etc., therefore, let him be punished as SUCH.

Let's have punishment certain and speedy.

Yours for better observance of traffic rules,

J. J. HICKMAN,
352-A West Oak Street.

Boulevard Stop Is Necessity, Says Driver

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—Commending your agitation for safe driving of automobiles, I wish to urge the importance of the "Boulevard stop" on all streets entering a thoroughfare. I have driven over 75,000 miles in states from Massachusetts to California, eight different cars, from 1910 to 1924, and have never had a serious accident, but have been run into three different times by persons entering a main drive, at a rate exceeding 20 miles an hour.

Sincerely yours for the saving of life and limb and property and for increased joy and pleasure in driving, as we have increased safety.

G. B. STARR,
Glendale Sanitarium.

Revoke License of Careless Drivers

Safety Week Editor, The Evening News—Motorists should keep within state speed limits, and slow down on wet pavement and down grade, especially where it might be necessary to turn, swerve or stop.

On entering heavily traveled boulevard, give right of way to the other car.

Don't pass another car at intersection.

Always give clearly-defined signals.

Keep to the side of the road, if possible. Don't loaf on crowded, narrow road. Drive up to reasonable speed, or reasonably close to car ahead.

Don't drive too close to car ahead, especially if he has four-wheel brakes.

Don't speed too fast to pass street car that is slowing down at intersection.

Watch Fords and children. You never know what they will do next.

Don't startle pedestrian crossing street by sounding horn.

Lights and brakes should have official inspection and law should make compulsory the carrying of card stating such had been done.

Everyone desiring drivers' license should have to stand examination and prove his or her ability before being given one.

Fines or jail sentences should be changed to revocation of license for a certain number of days, according to offense, and notation of that sentence made on license card—next sentence to be given accordingly.

RAYMOND E. SMITH,
542 East Palmer.

Girls should be conscripted and taught the domestic arts and thus relieve the house-help shortage, declares a New Zealand statesman.

Charge 50 Cents on $50 Checking Account

Announcement is made by the members of the Glendale Clearing House association, composed of the local banks, that after September 1, 1924, a charge of 50 cents will be made on the last business day of each month against any checking account which during the month has shown an average daily credit balance of less than $50, and against which checks have been paid during the month.

This ruling, it is explained by officials of the association, is not with the aim of making a profit, but to be relieved of the loss caused by carrying small checking accounts and to eliminate overdrafts and the burden of returning checks because of insufficient funds.

Two alternatives are suggested by the association, one being that the depositors should transfer their checking accounts to savings accounts, or to build up the balance so that it will average more than $50, which is declared to be the plan that will prove of most benefit to the depositor.

Total for 1924 to date	6,742,724

Building permits for August totalled $348,936 at noon today, bringing the total for the year up to $6,742,724, according to the figures in the office of H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent. Following is a list of the permits issued since yesterday noon:

Asa Hall, 6-room residence, 1352 Highland Ave.	$ 6,000
Gertrude M. Bachmann, 5-room residence, 827 East Windsor road	3,000
F. W. Paap, 5-room residence, 246 Sinclair street	2,500
Mrs. Grace A. Corbaley, garage, 313 South Lafayette street	500
W. A. Patten, one-room residence, 514 San Jose street	300

A "taxicab" chariot, used in Rome before the time of Julius Caesar, computed the fare by pebbles dropped into a bowl.

According to a statement issued by Milo Bekins, general manager of the Bekins company, upon notification of granting of this additional franchise, "the Bekins motor van lines now provide an efficient, regularly scheduled means of transporting household goods with greatest economy of time, labor and expense to the party moving—and this facility now covers both coast and valley routes from Los Angeles to San Francisco and Santa Rosa; via Oakland to Sacramento, and from Los Angeles via Fresno and valley points to San Francisco."

CHAPTER XXVIII

"I'll be hanged if I know!" he said boyishly.

"But seventy thousand dollars——!" the girl said. "And you don't pay any rent. And you sold your polo ponies last year—"

"Yes, that was just for the season. And then there are the three cars, and seven house servants here, and—oh, I don't know, everything!" he said. "We have to give dinners, and buy tickets, and give wedding presents, and send flowers, and we have bills at about forty places, and clothes cost like the deuce! And then there's income tax——"

"It's scandalous!" said Hilary, aghast. "I think Dora Collier must be crazy."

"I want her to be happy," Craig said, in an odd tone, after a silence. Hilary saw that he was staring into the fire, his handsome face very grave.

"Happy!" she echoed, vaguely apprehensive. "Well—well, but why shouldn't she be?"

"I don't know, Hilary," Craig said, suddenly, "but—but she's not!"

"Poor Butterfly!" Hilary whispered, her heart turned to ashes.

"I'm never going to say this again; she is my dearly loved wife," Craig began, steadily, after a silence. "And you are her sister, and I know, Hilary, that her happiness means more to you than your own. If Butterfly's life—turned out badly, I know that there would never be any happiness for you, you don't have to tell me that! But—she's only twenty now, Hilary; she's only a little girl, really, and she needs you every hour of her life. She obeyed you—she believed in you. I took her away from you; I spoiled her. It amused me to see her running her own roadster, it amused me when the shop people asked her, 'Daughter?' when she went about charging things to Mrs. Craig Spaulding. Everyone fell in love with her; it never occurred to her," he added, as Hilary preserved a stricken silence, "that she might make mistakes. She—she resents any hints from me; I don't blame her, it's all my fault! But I know now that what made her wonderful—so strangely wonderful, to me, those two years ago, was you, back of her, making life a sort of fairy story, as you always do, laughing about everything and turning it into a game, cooking those little meals, and wearing the little velvet dresses—like that one, now. I didn't mean to say this—it doesn't matter, anyway. But I want you so awfully to stand by her now, scold her, straighten her out. She'll take anything from you!"

Hilary did not answer; she was too deeply stirred and too much frightened to find words. She sat looking steadily at the fire, her heart troubled, and her mind a whirlpool of anxious thoughts.

"Be patient with her, Craig," she said, after a long silence. "She's—pure gold."

"Yes, I know she is!" he answered. And when they spoke again it was on another subject.

In Dora's smart little car the sisters drove about in the winter crowds: shopping, planning for Christmas, enjoying the excitement and the charm of the big city. They lunched sometimes at home, sometimes with other women at hotels or clubs, they always had some special engagement for tea, and always another for the evening.

"Oh, Dora, do let us be alone together, once!" Hilary begged, one morning, when even the visit she loved, to Dora's bedroom, was unsatisfactory. It was always unsatisfactory, Hilary thought, but it was only today that the truth suddenly occurred to her. Dora's maid was always coming and going; Dora's little French bedside telephone was always ringing; Dora's manicurist would come in at about eleven, or her masseuse, or the woman to rub her hair.

Hilary usually came into Dora's room at about ten o'clock, when Craig was an hour gone. Dora was waking then, turning and twisting her lovely little body luxuriously in a sea of beribboned and embroidered baby pillows. Emma would be decorously admitting the winter daylight; Alice would slip downstairs silently for Mrs. Spaulding's tray.

Dora, tousled, charming, her cheeks pink with sleep, would kiss her sister affectionately, glance at her letters, and share with her coffee, her boiled egg, her heartrending yawns, and the newspaper headlines, the pleasure of Hilary's society.

"I ought to have a secretary," Dora would fret, disgusted at the enormous number of invitations she must acknowledge. Hilary took charge of them for her nowadays; she really enjoyed stacking them, making notes in pencil on each, and disposing of them later, in a sunny corner of the big warm library. "I wish I could have a color like this when I wanted it!" the little sister might further grumble, eyeing herself discontentedly in a great hand-mirror of French gold and blue.

On the morning when Hilary was suddenly moved to protest that they were never alone together, Dora looked thoughtful. Immediately, with the brilliant, docile smile, she reached for her telephone and cancelled her luncheon engagement. "My sister and I never have a minute alone together!" explained Dora, winning eyes on Hilary as she spoke. "Now, what shall we do?" she asked, when this was done. "Where shall we lunch, and what shall we do after lunch? It's Wednesday; would you like to go to a mat?"

Hilary would have liked to go into the tiny kitchen of the old brick house, to light the gas-stove and feel its heartening warmth gradually envelop them as they talked, to stretch fingers tired from violin strings, or shoulders tired from office work, and to explore the icebox for cold sweet potatoes and jellied soup.

As it was she could only say somewhat flatly:

"Well, let's do something!"

And Dora answered with great vivacity:

"Oh, we'll do something!"

But the "something" proved vaguely unsatisfying, as it developed. All the hotels were alike; to go to the club meant that Dora would be immediately surrounded. To penetrate into the fascinating quarters of the city, buying nonsensical nothings, and eating in some unknown little "Sign of the Green Teapot," or "Dolly Madison Tea Room," might have thrilled Dora Collier three years ago, but would not be especially interesting to Mrs. Craig Spaulding.

They motored up into Westchester County, and had luncheon at a large hotel overlooking the icy stretches of the sluggish Hudson. Dora was entirely manageable. She put her lip-stick untouched back into her gold meshed bag as often as she instinctively took it out, and she smoked only an occasional cigarette.

"It's table d'hote," she said, resignedly, at luncheon. "Ugh! Orange punch after the entree, and choice of rice pudding with strawberry jam sauce, lemon meringue pie, or maple sundae. Well, luckily we're not hungry . . ."

Hilary settled herself with a resolute determination to extract some enjoyment from the occasion. She smiled at Dora's remark that it looked to her like an Old Ladies' Home. Frail old bodies in plain satin or taffeta dresses were indeed filtering into the big room; the winter light fell dully upon white heads elaborately crimped and metamorphosed.

But Hilary saw one wholesome, pleasant-faced woman leading a troop of small children in: three little girls, two very small boys, and steeled to sudden resolution, she said:

"Butterfly, you know that if you had gone on with your music you would have had to work very hard, don't you?"

"My dear, I'm going to take up my violin work again immediately!" Butterfly began, smiling contritely. Hilary began to hate that smile. Patiently she said:

"No, I don't mean that. This is what I mean, dear. Any life ought to have work in it, even if it's only the work that goes to a happy marriage—pleasure isn't everything, you know——"

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S POPCORN PARTY

Uncle Wiggily had gone down to the seashore again for a little vacation trip, and one morning he came skipping up from the sandy beach, his pink nose twinkling as fast as a lightning bug on a warm night in June.

"Come on, Nurse Jane! Hop along, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy!" called the rabbit to his muskrat lady housekeeper, who was at the seashore with him. "We are going to have some jolly good fun!"

"If you mean, by fun, that I am to stand in the ocean and let you splash water on me with your long ears," laughed Nurse Jane, "I'm not going to do it!"

"No! No!" Nothing like that!" chuckled the bunny rabbit. "I am going to give a little popcorn party on the beach for some of the animal children. I would like to have you come along to see the sport."

Nurse Jane said she would go, and soon, down on the sands, a fire was glowing. Uncle Wiggily had bought a popper, which is a sort of wire cage, to keep the corn from sailing away as it pops. He had also bought some ears of special corn—the kind that bursts and turns white, like snow flakes, when it is shaken over a fire. And, Uncle Wiggily had bought some pans in which to mix the corn. On some he would put melted butter and salt. On others of the popped kernels he would pour red, white and blue sugar.

"Oh, what lovely fun we are going to have!" cried Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels.

"We never had so much fun since school let out." squealed Curly and Floppy Twistytail, the little piggie boys. Others of the animal children were dancing about the sands, for Uncle Wiggily had invited all his little friends to the popcorn party.

"Sit down on the sand in a ring around the rosie circle, my dears," called Nurse Jane, "and Uncle Wiggily will pop the corn."

The bunny gentleman shook the wire popper of corn kernels over the blaze.

"Pip! Pop! Poppity pip pap!" popped the corn. The kernels burst—they turned white like snow flakes and Uncle Wiggily turned the corn out into the pans. Then he popped another popper full and Nurse Jane began putting on the melted butter and salt, and also the red, white and blue sugar.

"Let me make a popcorn ball!" begged Floppy, the pig. He took some of the corn, covered with soft, melted sugar, and patted it round in his paws. He made a fine, big pop corn ball. Then, all of a sudden, while Uncle Wiggily was passing some of the buttered corn to Susie Littletail, Floppy's brother Curly squealed.

"Oh! Ohee—e—e. Look at Floppy! He's got his mouth wide open and he can't get it shut. Oh, look at Floppy!"

Uncle Wiggily and the others looked, and what do you suppose that piggie boy had done? He had stuffed the whole, big pop corn ball in his mouth at once. The ball was too big for him to swallow! He couldn't even chew it.

"Goo! Ga! Gurra! Gunk!" gurgled poor Floppy, for he couldn't talk.

"Get Dr. Possum!" yelled Nurse Jane.

"No; I can cure him!" said Uncle Wiggily. Taking up his red, white and blue-striped rheumatism crutch, the bunny rabbit pushed the pop corn ball down Floppy's throat. The little pig choked and gurgled and tears came into his eyes. Then he grunted and said:

"Goopie! Goopie! I'm all right now."

"But don't you ever do a thing like that again!" said Nurse Jane.

"No'm. I won't—ever!" promised Floppy. Then he only ate a little corn at a time, as all the others did, and they had a fine time at the Bunny's beach party. And, if the carpenter will make some shaving curls for the rag doll's little sister, you shall next hear the story of Uncle Wiggily and the bumble bee.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

DIRT EATING

I received a letter from a mother, as follows:

"Will you please tell me what to do for my 15-months-old baby? She eats dirt when she gets out of doors. She just sits down and eats it. She's a very healthy child and a bottle baby. We have been giving her straight cow's milk."

Occasionally children will eat things such as dirt, clay, pencils, chalk and plaster. It is generally thought that this abnormal craving indicates the system's needs for inorganic material. It may be possible that this is so, for we seldom see a child who is healthy and normally fed develop these habits. Undernourished children that have the dirt eating habit will undoubtedly stop when they are better nourished.

Of course, children are great mimics, and it is possible that some perfectly healthy children might take up the habit if they saw their companions doing it. Like other habits, it will require patience and firmness to break, especially if it has been allowed to continue for any time.

Children can be taught from infancy not to put anything in their mouths except food. If they are taught this valuable lesson they are going to escape many disorders.

In the case of your little girl, Mother, it is possible that you are not giving her enough solid foods and her dirt eating habit may mean that she has a craving for something solid even though it is only dirt. By the thirteenth month a child should be weaned from the bottle and should have her milk from a cup. Is she getting more than a quart of milk? If she is, cut it down to a quart and give her more solid foods. At 15 months of age, a child should be having cereals, dried crisp bread and butter, egg yolks two or three times a week or oftener and occasionally a whole egg, meat and vegetable broths, one or two tablespoonfuls of scraped beef (or cottage cheese or one level tablespoonful of nut butter) strained or pureed vegetables, three or four tablespoonfuls and some fruit, two to four level tablespoonfuls, besides her quart of milk.

We have a list of books giving you detailed directions on Infant and Child Feeding which we will give you on request if you enclose s. a. s. e. (self-addressed stamped envelope).

You will probably have to use the elbow cuff to break her of the habit, Mother. Take a piece of cardboard long enough to extend nearly to the pit of the arm and to the wrist. Make it wide enough to make a loose cuff. Sew the edges together and put on over the dress sleeve. Fasten on securely. This cuff will allow the child to use his arms but will not permit the hands to get to the mouth. (This is also good for nail biting and thumb sucking.)

Reducing While Nursing Baby

Mrs. L.—You are overweight, and you want to know if you can reduce while nursing your baby. You also have a very sensitive skin and you can see the veins through it and you bruise very easily.

Yes, you can reduce while nursing your baby. Don't omit a quart of milk from your diet, however. Cut down on your bread and butter, oils, rich gravies and sweets and meat, if you have taken the latter in excess. Are you getting a lot of vegetables and fruit? This tendency to bruise and have hemorrhages under the skin is one of the symptoms of scurvy which is due to a lack of vitamins which you get in your fresh foods.

Mrs. J.—Our articles on thumb-sucking and rickets will be of considerable help to you. Send for them. Don't forget to enclose a s. a. s. e.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Child diet specialists and doctors tell us that children should never, under any circumstances, be given tea or coffee. This also applies to iced tea and coffee—which one so often sees given to children in hot weather.

Fruit juice drinks, iced cocoa, and chocolate milk shakes are the child's proper hot-weather drinks. Indeed, these beverages are as beneficial to adults as to children. Orange and lemon juice furnish a good base for any fruit drink, with the addition of other fruit juices in season. Adding a little currant juice in currant time, for instance, will give a delightful zest to plain lemonade. Strawberry, raspberry, blackberry and grape juice all make splendid iced drinks for the little folk.

But when seasonable fruits are not obtainable, oranges and lemons are always to be had. Children only a few months old may safely be given a teaspoonful or two of orange juice strained and unsweetened once a day, mid-way between two milk feedings. Older babies may have the juice of half, or even a whole orange, squeezed into a glass and then diluted by a little cold water (never iced for very young children).

Do not sweeten the child's cold-weather drink too much. For an over amount of sugar ferments in the child's stomach and causes sour-stomach, or acidity. But the mild acid of the fruit itself, will not cause acidity in a healthy child; on the contrary, the general effect of orange juice is alkaline in the human system. As a mild, pleasant laxative nothing equals orange juice, and since most children love it, it should be given daily.

Do not let children taste soda water till after ten years old. This also applies to other drinks with a "zippy" flavor, which create a distaste for simple milk and fruit drinks. Milk is of prime necessity to the growing child's bone and tooth structure.

I know of a mother who has managed to keep her children from tasting these "zippy" drinks by making the simpler drinks at home. She takes particular pains to give her children little "tea parties" on her lawn on summer afternoons, with their little friends, the refreshments being home-made fruit drinks and home-baked cookies. Each of her children has a flourishing savings bank account, made up of pennies which might otherwise have been spent on ice cream soda.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Liquor Stock Brings $50 Fines for Three

Charged with illegal possession of liquor, H. F. Kerns, D. C. Kerns and H. Shingledecker, all of 714 East Elk street, were fined $50 by Police Judge Frank H. Lowe today when they were arraigned in police court. The trio were arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief of Police John D. Fraser and Lieut. William J. Royle.

According to the officers, six quarts of whiskey and one pint of a distilled liquor were found in the rooms occupied by the men. Their bonds were fixed at $500 cash or $1000 property bonds each, and they remained in the city jail last night when they were unable to furnish bond.

The three men entered pleas of guilty today when taken before Judge Lowe and said they worked for a dairy. A case of liquor had been purchased, they said.

Shower Honoree

Many lovely gifts were showered yesterday afternoon on Miss Hazel Walters, who is to be married August 28 to Clarence McMillan, at an informal affair at which Miss Evangeline Quackenbush of 1119 East Colorado street presided.

A diversion of the afternoon was describing the bridegroom, each one present being asked to write a description. Mrs. Ruth Sunkes was awarded the prize for the cleverest sketch.

During the afternoon Mrs. Margaret Braden, pianist, played Sidney Smith's "Mountain Stream," and a trio including Miss Evangeline Quackenbush, first violin; Mrs. Stanley Walker, second violin, and Mrs. Braden, pianist, played "O Sole Mio."

Later Miss Walters was given a clothes basket and clothespin apron and told to go to a nearby room and take down the clothes. She found a shower of gifts hung on a clothes line.

Home made ice cream and cake were served by Miss Quackenbush, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. A. Quackenbush. There were twenty-five present.

Miss Walters was recently honored at a shower affair given by Mrs. Stanley Walker, formerly Miss Faith Tarling.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Ruthie—A simple treatment for blackheads is to bathe the skin with warm water, using small bags of oatmeal instead of soap, and pressing them against the blemishes. Rinse with warm and then with very cold water.

J. J. N.—To be accumulating many grey hairs at 20 years of age, indicates either an extreme nervous condition of the whole system, or that the health of the scalp has been affected.

You can help this condition by massaging the scalp every day to quicken its circulation, and by building up your general health. Professional treatments would be advisable for a time, also.

Bee Bee—Most women keep their skins free of superfluous hair by using tweezers for the coarser hairs. If the finer hairs show very much, they bleach these with peroxide. In many cases the hair weakens through this treatment until it disappears for good.

Skinny—After you have gained the weight lost during the illness, your legs will be formed just as they were formerly.

At this season of the year, with all the opportunities for outdoor exercising, it should not take very long to build up to normal weight again. If you care for milk, drink at least a quart each day, taking one pint of it hot just before retiring.

Anxious Betty—As you appear to be too stout in so many parts of the body, a general reduction would be best for you. Eat very little starchy food, sweets, or oils and you will find after a few weeks that you are beginning to lose the extra weight.

A. McC.—If an ordinary freckle lotion does not bleach the moth patches, it will require a dermatologist to remove them. This is a very simple matter through a process of impigmentation.

Someone—A girl of 14 years, height five feet, seven inches, should weigh about 125 pounds.

Anxious—You will retain your dimples if you do not allow yourself to become too stout or too thin. A dimple will extend into a deep line if the muscles are allowed to sag, and it will disappear entirely and be filled in when there is any overweight.

Billie—A dainty ?oetaoinetao

Billie—A daily full, warm bath will keep your skin smooth even though you do not use any cream on the complexion. An occasional bath made very salty with sea salt will remove all roughness from the skin, leaving it with a velvety touch.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ROTARIANS PLAN ANOTHER PICNIC

Roy Kent Scores Home Run But Smith's Team Is Declared Winner

The picnic of the Glendale Rotary club that was held at Brookside park, Pasadena, yesterday afternoon, was such a pronounced success that plans are already under way to repeat it on a bigger and more pretentious scale in about two weeks.

The arrangements for yesterday's picnic were in the hands of George B. Karr, J. I. Wernette and Francis J. W. Henry, with Ed Jones looking after the supplies of coffee, ice cream and soft drinks, all of which were furnished on a generous scale.

Included in the fifty who enjoyed the event were the wives and families of many of the members, and everyone took a basket lunch along and swapped dainties from the various baskets, so that everyone had a generous variety of good things to eat.

Sports Program

An impropmtu program of sports was arranged, including a baseball game between teams headed by President J. Herbert Smith and Roy L. Kent. The president's team won handily, but Roy Kent scored a home run for his team, the only circuit clout that his side was able to garner. Mr. Kent's son Howard was umpire, but of course, no one dared to suggest that his father's exploit was in any way connected with that circumstance.

Swimming, songs and story telling helped to vary the afternoon in the intervals of eating lunch and chasing baseballs.

SEATTLE BLANKS ESSICK'S TIGERS

Gregg Too Good for Vernon; Dorman, From Glendale, Makes His Debut

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15—Vean Gregg blanked the Vernon Tigers 4 to 0 in a colorless ball game at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. Charley Dorman, who has been playing with the Glendale White Sox, made his debut yesterday and was among the seven men struck out by Seattle's portsider.

Lefty Thomas saw seven innings of service and pitched a very fair game while his playmates were unable to show as much class in scoring. He was succeeded by Fred Groat, the Caltek twirler. Seattle scored in the first, got two more in the sixth and one in the seventh. Vernon almost scored in the eighth and then flivvered out of camera's view.

The Seals 11 to 10 win over Salt Lake in the Mormon capital kept them out in front of the Indians for the P. C. L. top position.

Los Angeles won its third straight at Sacramento, 5 to 4, although Elmer Myers nearly weakened in his hour victory.

At Oakland the Portland Ducks lost by a score of 2 to 1.

ROCKSON TO MEET SAGE ONCE MORE

Rematch Pair for Tonight's Main Event at Legion Boxing Show

Plenty of mitt slinging is the prospect for tonight at the Hollywood American Legion stadium, according to the card arranged by Matchmaker Tom Kennedy. Seven fast, snappy bouts are on the list for the evening's entertainment, together with music by Roberts' Golden State band.

The main event will bring together Bob Sage, recent addition to the circle of Pacific Coast fighters, and Mickey Rockson, favorite in Southern California rings. Sage hails from Detroit where he practices law when not busy in the ring. The pair met recently and fought a great battle to a draw, and the demand for a rematch was so insistent that Kennedy signed the boys up for tonight's main attraction.

Walter Rooney and Eddie Crosier will appear in the special spot, while Tommy Carter and Frankie Pitcher will strut their stuff in the semi-windup. Dick Walsh and Sailor Foster are carded for one of the important bouts of the show. Frankie Novey meets Louis Martin, Joe Rickey and Eddie Gemina will exchange blows, and Jack Calbert and Harry Foley will open the card.

FIGHT RESULTS

AT NEW YORK—Jack Bernstein, Yonkers, won decision over Luis Vincintini, Chile, 12 rounds.

THREE GAMES AT HOME FOR U. OF I.

Stadium Calamity to Hurt Season for Noted Team; Study Basketball

By LAWRENCE PERRY

Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Sort of a calamity has happened at the University of Indiana, where they were building a new stadium, hoping to have it completed in time for the football season. It seems that flaws of some sort were discovered in the partly completed structure which necessitated blasting and wrecking to make way for a substitute.

It is certain that it will not be ready in time for the preliminary games, and perhaps not for any. Because of this trouble Indiana will meet only three teams—none of them big ten members—at home this year.

Purdue, which is building a new bowl, hopes to have it completed by November 22, when Indiana comes to Lafayette for the annual game.

Study Basketball

Knute Rockne advises the writer that every state in the union is represented among the students at the coaching school which the great coach has just opened at Notre Dame. Teaching basketball at the Notre Dame summer coaching course is Dr. W. E. Meanwell, of the University of Wisconsin, who rates as about the best basketball mentor in the middle west.

The practice of securing football athletes of reputation as a drawing card for European steamship excursions is growing by leaps and bounds. Just now the eastern big three is represented on a Scandinavian cruise, viz., Buzz Stout, Princeton football captain; Percy Jenkins, the star Harvard back, and Newell Neidlinger of the Yale backfield.

If Bill Johnston's sun is really declining he will take with him below the horizon many more illustrious honors than have fallen to most lawn tennis players. When Father Time beckons to a champion it is an inexorable gesture.

Midwick Polo Four To Meet Rockaways

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The Midwick polo four of California will meet the Rockaway team in the final contest for the national junior championship tomorrow afternoon at the Rumson Country club.

The Rockaway quartet earned the right to meet the crack California team by defeating the United States army polo by a score of 10 to 8. Rockaway came from behind to win from the army team, which was the favorite before the match began.

Cheer Leader Confident

RUMSON, N. J., Aug. 15.—"The Midwicks can beat anything on sixteen legs" today declared H. M. Roth, unofficial cheer leader for the California polo four and upkeeper of morale in the Midwick stables.

Roth has been the horseshoeing expert for the famous Midwick team for ten years. He has worked in every racing stable in the country during his long career. Roth is reputed to be wealthy enough to retire, but he lives for the Midwick record.

"The Midwicks will win the final game of the junior championship next Saturday," said Roth. "The way the boys outplayed and outrode the strong Meadowbrook club, fourteen goals to two shows how the oats are flying. Betcha the folks never saw a better string of ponies except for the international mounts."

The twenty-nine Midwick ponies — carefully transported from the coast in padded cars—are estimated to be worth $50,000. Carleton Burke, captain of the Midwick four, owns more than half of the string. A keen polo student, Burke believes in heavy polo ponies.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Browns said it with base hits in their getaway game at the Yankee stadium, winning 8 to 5, Danforth southpawing the Hugginites to death.

The Pirates again yanked back the Giants, reducing their lead to five games, when Wilbur Cooper checked their offense, Pittsburgh winning 3 to 2.

The Tigers were prevented from jumping into first place by the bats of the Athletics, who mauled four pitchers for a 11 to 5 victory.

Here's Dazzy Vance's record after shutting out the Reds yesterday 5 to 0: Scored twentieth victory of season, eighth straight triumph, fifteenth victory over western teams this season (he's yet to be beaten this year by the west); fanned eight men, bringing season's total to 177.

The Senators climbed to within two games of the leading Yankees when Mogridge held Cleveland to two hits, the Indians being shut out 1 to 0.

The Red Sox made four hits off Robertson, but his bases on balls were disastrous and Boston beat the White Sox 4 to 3.

Concluding Rounds In Golf Tournament

DENVER, Aug. 15.—The concluding rounds of the 72 hole Rocky Mountain open golf tournament, medal play, will be staged over the Cherry Hill course today following yesterday's 36 holes in which William Creavy, Oklahoma City, and Bobby Cruickshank of New York, led the field with scores of 146 each. Jock Hutchinson, former British open champion, furnished the fireworks for a large gallery when he made the sensational score of 30 on the first nine holes of the morning round yesterday, taking six birdies and covering the course in five under par. He encountered difficulties later, however, and took five over par on the second nine holes, finishing with a score of 147 for the day.

Dick Linares, California champion, negotiated the 36 holes in 160 strokes, finishing in a triple tie for sixth place.

Cyril Walker, national open champion, took 161 strokes for the 36 holes.

QUESTION—One is out and there are runners on second and third bases. The ball is batted to center field. Fielder caught the ball and threw home. The throw went between third and home. Pitcher got the ball and in relaying it to the catcher hit the runner going home from third. Ball rolled into the crowd. A boy picked it up and handed it to the catcher who threw to the pitcher and the latter touched out the runner coming home from second. Was he out?

ANSWER—No. The ball was blocked and must be returned to the pitcher in his position before it can be put in play. The run should have counted.

QUESTION—Runner is on second base. Batter hits to shortstop, who playing behind the line. Runner hesitates and then starts forward and hurdles the ball. In doing so he obstructs the shortstop's view. The latter stops the ball, but is rattled and throws poorly to first. Should the runner be called out for interference or should the shortstop be charged with an error?

ANSWER—The question of interference is one of the umpire's judgment. Most interference plays are questions of judgment on the part of the umpire. If there is no interference decided upon then the fielder must be charged with an error.

QUESTION—Two are out and a runner is on third base. The batter up hits the ball and in trying to make it a two-bagger he gets put out. Meanwhile the player on third scores. Does the run count?

ANSWER—The run counts.

Hawaiian Tank Stars To Show at Brookside

The entire Hawaiian Olympic swimming team, comprising a list of world's and Olympic champions, both in the men's and women's ranks, will perform next Wednesday night in a mammoth swimming carnival at Brookside park, Pasadena. Miss Aileen Allen, former Olympic diving champion, has arranged a series of sprints, back stroke and diving for the Hawaiians to show their class against the Southern California talent.

The feature of the show will be a match race with Miss Mariechen Wehselau, world's backstroke champion, competing against Olive Hatch, Thelma Finn, Rodie Blewett and Thelma Schwartz. The four fastest Hawaiians will engage in a relay against the team of Phil Daubenspeck, Reggie Harris, Lee Jarvis and Jack Robinson. Hawaiian music and other entertainment will be supplied. The affair will be held under the auspices of the Pasadena Athletic and Country club.

Official reports show that 1,040,000 refugees have been poured into Greece during a twelve months' period.

USES MOVIES IN TEACHING SPORT

Yost Teaches Football by Use of Pictures; Find Help to Players

By LAWRENCE PERRY

Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Fielding H. Yost says he has been experimenting with moving pictures in coaching his normal students this summer. He feels that a great deal may be accomplished in this way and although he does not say so, it would not be surprising if film demonstrations played an important part in the ivory drills of the Wolverine footballers next month.

Various coaches have been in the habit of having movies taken of games and using the pictures to point out to the men their errors in the way of form and tactics, but to date the screen has not been utilized as a supplement to technical coaching in position play. Perhaps Yost will be the first to do this.

Knute Rockne is about the only coach who uses music in connection with his coaching, wherefore the light and intricate dance steps his backs use in their shifts. Knute told the writer he did not want a backfield man on his team who could not shine on the prom floor as a dancer. Which shows how even the cake eater's art is not wasted on the gridiron.

There is a theory at Princeton that if the eleven could be coached to co-ordinate as deftly, deviously and synchronously as the chorus in the annual triangle musical comedy, the team would befuddle any defense. Perhaps at some future time the Ned Wayburns of this country will have their places upon all football coaching staffs.

Indiana university is going to make a real bid for fame this fall and the word is the Hoosiers will bear watching. Frank Sundstrom has been summoned from the east to assist Bill Ingram in coaching and the material looks better—than in years.

Speaking of Indiana, old De Pauw, coached by Jimmy Ashmore, formerly of Illinois, has hooked up with three conference elevens this fall, viz: Illinois, October 23; Indiana, October 4 and Purdue, November 8.

BOXING BODY TO SET FIGHT DATE

Commission to Decide When Leonard Will Be Able to Meet Walker

By FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondence of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The New York boxing commission meets today to decide what to do about the Leonard-Walker bout which got crimped when Benny hurt his thumb boxing Pal Moran. It now appears that the thumb is not broken, but sprained. Maybe by the time the commission examines it, it will have dwindled down to an injury to the thumb nail.

Walker has expressed himself as greatly peeved at the accident and the boxing commission seems in no pleasanter frame of mind. The talk is that Benny's stage career has made him top-lofty and he took Walker lightly until made to realize that he was in for a real battle. So, as the writer has already said, Benny probably would relish the opportunity for a longer period of training.

Evidently the club fans got all the treat in seeing Benny Leonard box Pal Moran the other night that Benny knows so well how to provide. His strategy, his ability to hit any kind of a blow and his unvarying poise exemplify the highest art of the fighter-boxer.

Wears Them Down

He did to Pal what everyone who is close to the boxing expected and no more. He gave Moran a good beating, but did not knock him out.

When one analyzes Benny's fights, one is forced to the conclusion that Leonard has got most of his knockouts not by one or two clean punches, as Dempsey does—when he wants to—but by wearing a man down as he wore Richie Mitchell, Freddie Welsh and others.

Leonard's chance against Mickey Walker will be, when and if they meet, to tie up the rushing battler who works mainly for the body and finally bringing over his right for the jaw.

On the other hand, with Leonard getting old and not too active Mickey conceivably would wear Leonard down if Benny's ring experience and cleverness did not avail.

Don't
throw them away!

IT isn't much to ask — an appeal to all of us from the men in our Forestry Service who are devoting their lives to the care and preservation of our beautiful outdoor lands....

...According to these men over ninety per cent of the fires which sweep our forests every year are caused by carelessness....

...A little care will prevent this appalling waste. Let us all form the "golden rule of carefulness". Never leave an uncovered camp fire or toss aside a burning cigarette or match in the open....

BREAK THEM IN HALF. Form the habit of breaking every one in half after using and you will never throw away a lighted match in the open....

to 50 cents for the balance of the present fiscal year, that is to February next. It was decided to start a campaign for a greater membership, and Charles C. Bowerman was appointed an additional member of this committee.

Mr. Randall spoke particularly of the work of the bond committee of twenty-nine, and referred to the various items approved by this body, urging everybody to vote according to his best judgment when the bond election comes up.

Improved Mail Service

The question of house to house mail service was taken up and George Hallett, assistant postmaster, and P. Irmischer, were appointed a committee on this subject. Mr. Hallett advised that about October 1 the following territory would receive house to house mail service:

Glenwood road, Winchester to Spazier.

Fourth street, Winchester to Elm.

Elm street, San Fernando to Fourth.

Linden street, San Fernando to Glenwood.

Allen street, Fourth to Glenwood.

Irving street, Fourth to Glenwood.

Thompson street, Fourth to Kenneth road.

Raymond street, San Fernando road to Glenwood.

Western avenue, San Fernando road to Glenwood.

Widening Western

Upon the suggestion of a discussion of widening Western avenue from Mountain street to San Fernando road, it was decided to hold this question over to the September meeting, when all those interested in this matter could be present and talk it over pro and con. This item was suggested as one worthy to be taken up, but the association's policy is to carry out the wishes of the majority, always, and it is therefore, up to those vitally interested to express themselves on the matter and be present at the next meeting.

Regarding the items appearing on the association's recent questionnaire for the development by the city of Los Angeles of Griffith park opposite the northwest section of Glendale, the building of a concrete bridge over the Los Angeles river at Western avenue, and the acquisition of a park site by the city of Glendale at the foot of Western avenue, adjoining Griffith park, it was moved and carried that these items be referred to the Western Avenue Improvement association for their consideration and action.

Indorse Action

The association indorsed the action taken by the Planning Commission to extend Victory boulevard and Riverside Drive, and the secretary was directed to direct a letter to the San Fernando Valley Improvement association indorsing these two projects as well as the putting through of a shorter route to Hollywood via the proposed tunnel, which will mean much to the northwest section of Glendale.

It was moved and seconded that the chairman continue to serve on the bond committee of twenty-nine and to use his judgment in assisting in the formation of any proposed new committee representing all the civic organizations in Glendale which would handle matters of a general nature, after the present bond committee of twenty-nine is discharged.

R. L. Springer was appointed on a telephone committee to cooperate with the public utilities committeeman in the matter of getting all the telephones in the extreme northwest section of Glendale put on the Glendale exchange. Phones are now on the Burbank exchange and these telephone subscribers when they want to telephone to other parts of Glendale have to pay a toll charge of 5 cents, notwithstanding they live in the city, it was declared.

Governor, In Spanish Costume, Holds Court

MONTEREY, Cal., Aug. 15.—The pendulum of time was reversed here today and Governor Friend W. Richardson, standing in the stead of a long line of distinguished old Spanish gentlemen who were once governors of this state, held forth at Colton hall, built by the Rev. Dr. Walter N. Colton, first American official in the state and which building was the first capitol of California and the scene of the constitutional convention which followed admission to the union.

Garbed in a Spanish costume peculiar to the days of old, Governor Richardson mounted the dais in the famous old courtroom in Colton hall and there passed judgment upon various and sundry local celebrities who had refused to abide by the proclamation of Mayor Benjamin F. Wright, calling on all citizens of this city to wear mustaches, side burns and imperials during the interim leading up to the observance of the Serra pilgrimage, in honor of Father Junipero Serra, father of the California missions, to be held this fall.

Chief of Police F. W. A. Cording and his officers, also in Spanish costume, hied the offenders into court before Governor Richardson.

Much of Spain's farming land is in need of irrigation.

MOVIE STARS AT EGYPTIAN CAFE

Al Cawood, Manager, Is Making Good on His Promise to Public

The slogan, "Every Thursday—Movie Night, Watch the Stars Come Out," adopted by Al Cawood, manager of the Egyptian Village cafe on North Brand boulevard, has become a reality instead of a promise.

Last Thursday night several prominent movie stars with their friends were present. Among those present were Lee Moran, well known film comedian, who entertained Miss Bernice Sibeck of the Sibeck School of Classical Dancing of this city and a party of six others from the Orpheum.

Miss Irene Rich and her mother entertained Mr. and Mrs. Warren Russel and a party of four from Santa Monica. Miss Dale Fuller, star of "Foolish Wives," entertained her director, Eric Von Stroheim, and a party of four others. Cleo Ridgeley, famous Lasky star, and her husband, James Horne, old-time residents of Glendale, and William Russell, movie star, and Frank Brozage, famous director, were also present.

Next Thursday night Al Cawood promises another galaxy of stars.

Frank H. Colson to Study Music Abroad

G. F. Colson of 405 East Harvard has just received a message from his son, Frank Harold Colson of New York City, that he is to sail shortly for Italy to study voice. The son is a talented tenor and aspires to a career on the concert stage. Glendale friends will be interested because he is a native Californian, having been born in Pomona. He served for four years with the United States navy in the Philippine Islands, and also saw service during the world war.

SPECIAL CREDIT ON NEW WASHERS

Glendale Hardware Co. Gives Thirty Days Use of Machine Gratis

For a limited time only the Glendale Hardware company is offering a special sales feature in connection with the new Liberty washing machine, for which they are the agents in Glendale. They offer a credit of $10 free to every purchaser of a new Liberty washer. The firm will put this famous washer in a home without a payment for thirty days, which is the equivalent of a $10 payment.

Mr. Cox, the manager of the washing machine department, explains that the new Liberty washer is becoming very popular with the housewives of Glendale and this community. He states that this machine has a drophead wringer and is fully guaranteed. He also makes the statement that all washing machines wash clothes; some do it quicker than others, some machines are harder on clothes than others, some easier, but for a washing machine that will stand up under any and all conditions and give the utmost in satisfaction 365 days in the year, he can unqualifiedly recommend the New Liberty washer.

U. S. Navy Plane In Crash at Airport

geles Chamber of Commerce relative to a landing field being established at San Pedro.

Wrecks Total $25,000

"The accident today brings the total loss to airplanes within the last six weeks up to $25,000 at the Glendale Airport," W. B. Kinner, manager of the airport, said following the accident. "These accidents have been due, mainly, to the obstruction by power lines at the south end of the field, which prevent aviators making a safe landing."

Dr. T. C. Young, noted Glendale aviator and sportsman, declared that unless an order can be made by the city authorities removing the power lines from the field, it will be necessary to close the field permanently, which, he said, would mean a great loss to Glendale. He said that the recent offer to the city of five airplanes for fire scouting duty would have to be withdrawn unless the field were made safe, and clear landing possibilities assured.

Eagle Rock Woman Lone Bandit's Victim

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—A lone bandit yesterday walked into Mennin's pharmacy, 3430 Glassell avenue, Eagle Rock, and held up Mrs. Menning, while people were passing by in full view of what was happening. More than $80 was obtained from the cash register and with whispered commands for her not to move for five minutes, the bandit departed. Mrs. Mennin lost forty-five minutes in notifying the sheriff's office in a vain endeavor to find the number in the telephone book, she reported.

BOY PROBLEM IS TOLD BY LEADER

Rex C. Kelley of Y. M. C. A. Speaker at Luncheon Of Optimist Club

The boy problem, as shown by the survey conducted recently by the Y. M. C. A. and the service clubs, was discussed by Rex C. Kelley, Y. M. C. A. secretary, at the luncheon of the Optimists club in the Alley Inn today.

Mr. Kelley outlined the seven objectives that the association has set before itself as a part of the program involved in the plan to raise $275,000 for the erection of the new Y building in Glendale. These are vocational guidance, recreation, physical fitness, brotherhood, education, religion and the family and the community.

With an attractive program worked out along these lines, Mr. Kelley declared, the boys of Glendale will have many of their needs supplied in a way that will tend to make better citizens of them and that will afford an outlet for their activity.

Miss Tilda Rohr, noted Swiss contralto, and a well-known radio performer, sang three songs, "Oh, Golden Sun" (Freebey); "My Dearest Prayer" (Tandler); and "To a Messenger" (La Forge). Mrs. Orrie E. Ghrist, who accompanied Miss Rohr, played two numbers, "Prelude in C Minor," by Czerwonky, and "Shadow Dance" by Macdowell.

Bert Howard, first vice-president of the Hollywood Optimist club, was a guest and played two of his own compositions, "The Greeters' March," and another that has not yet been named, besides reciting two original poems.

Dr. R. C. Logan, reporting for the Big Brother committee told of the plans that had been made to sponsor a Boy Scout troop, and also to assist the Girl Scouts to meet part of the expense of their camp at Hollywood Beach, in Ventura county.

A warning was sounded by Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, that the adults who accommany boys and girls on hikes and to camp should guard against any contamination of the drinking water, as there are several cases of typhoid in Glendale now that are believed to be due to impure water.

The club will erect six Optimist signs on the principal roads leading into Glendale, following the adoption of the report submitted by A. H. Voelker.

Mentalities of Loeb, Leopold 'Not Diseased'

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—The mentalities of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb are not diseased, and whatever abnormalities their glands contain are comparatively trivial and are unrelated to their brains—this was the daily grist of medico-legal evidence ground out in Judge Caverly's court today by a gland specialist and a brain specialist.

Dr. Rollin T. Woodyatt, an endocrinologist and gland expert, knocked a good many props out of the defense's theory that the glands of the two slayers promoted the murder of Bobby Franks by asserting that knowledge of the gland system has not progressed far enough to enable himself or any other specialist to say what relations the glands have to the brain.

SLAYER HANGED

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Aug. 15.—A. F. Campion, Texas cattleman, today paid with his life on the gallows here for the murder of James E. Goldy, shot and killed in a Los Angeles cafe card game riot in 1923.

COMMITTEE WORK IS TOLD KIWANIS

Former District Governor Outlines Duties and Plans of Club

One of the most important committees of the Kiwanis club is the public service committee, William Brown, former district governor, told the members of the Glendale Kiwanis club in an address delivered today noon at the regular meeting held in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. The work and duties of the various committees were outlined by Mr. Brown.

The attendance prize, donated by Bert Woodard, was won by Normal Hayhurst, Dr. W. T. Hurt was the recipient of a baby fund, donated by the members of the club, in keeping with an established custom, when the birth of a son, John, to Dr. and Mrs. Hurt was announced.

Plans for a dance to be held at the Oakmont Country Club on August 23, when all members of Kiwanis clubs in this zone are invited to attend, were discussed by Fred Deal, lieutenant governor. C. W. Ingledue announced the starting of construction work on the Hotel Glendale and told of the plans for the structure.

Rev. Clifford Cole was welcomed by the members of the club upon his return from an extensive tour of Europe. Rev. Cole spoke briefly of his trip, saying that he found conditions in Europe better than he expected, with the exception of Scotland. He promised to give a full report of his trip at a later date. Chief of Police John D. Fraser led the community singing, with William Bode at the piano.

On North Maryland (joining Brand Blvd., in rear, right in the heart of Glendale's Best Business District), a large 6 rm. home on a lot 50x140.

This is a good Home—not new—BUT REMARKABLY WELL BUILT—with good basement and Furnace. The living room is very pleasant, with real fire place, and stone mantel. The Dining rm. faces Maryland and has good buffet and plenty of light. The three bed rooms are good size and have large clothes closets. The front bed room opens off living room and hall both, and could be used for library or den, if desired. The Kitchen is also large with full cupboards, cooler, flour and sugar bins and good nook. The back porch is large enough to be used as a room.

The lawns are good in the rear as well as the front. There is plenty of shrubbery, good shade and fruit trees.

A double garage completes the requisites for a good Home.

Best of all, this is a fine buy from a speculative standpoint. Some time in the not distant future, all of these lots adjoining Brand Blvd. frontage will sell at a tremendous profit, over present prices.

We offer this property, at the value of the lot alone, $10,500. Takes only $2500 to handle.

HOLD UP ACTION ON SUBWAY PLAN

Proposal to Include Tunnel In Underground System To Come Up Later

Action on the recommendation of Major R. H. Kelker, Jr., in charge of the city-county transportation survey, that the Pacific Electric plans for the Glendale tunnel be changed so that the proposed tube can be made a part of a future subway system, has been postponed until September, according to a statement made by Councilman Allan, chairman of the Los Angeles City Council's public utilities committee. The postponement, Councilman Allan said, has been granted at the request of all parties concerned.

The present plans would place the terminal of the tunnel at grade at the present Pacific Electric station at Hill street, Los Angeles. Among the proposals that have been made is one that would extend the tunnel to a terminal under Pershing square and Olive street, and another calls for the location of the Hill street tunnel underground, so that it may be a station on the future subway system.

Protests against the first-named plan have been filed by the Business Men's association, the Native Sons, Native Daughters, and other organizations, and will be considered by the committee.

MOVE LANDMARK TO NEW LOCATION

Jewel City Undertaking Co. To Transfer Building to Orange Street

The moving of the mission style country club building, occupied by the Jewel City Undertaking company, from its present location on the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, to 137 North Orange street, marks the passing of another Glendale landmark that has become familiar to Glendale residents and visitors for over fifteen years.

This mission style building, which was erected eighteen years ago as the Glendale Country club, known as a social center and the place of meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club during the club year 1911-1912, has been occupied by the Jewel City Undertaking company for several years.

Like the old Pacific Electric depot, which, for many years, occupied the location of Glendale's "first sky scraper," the old clubhouse building will be missed by those who have experienced the growth of Glendale from a small town to a prosperous, thriving city.

Will Be Enlarged

The building is being bisected and is to be moved in two sections to the North Orange street location. There remodeling will be done to increase the accommodations and add to the attractiveness of the funeral home. Plans call for the addition of rest rooms, slumber rooms, display room and extra operating room. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips hope to be in the building early in September.

Until the building is ready the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips at the rear of the lot, which has also been remodeled and refinished, will be used as a temporary funeral home.

W. E. Evans, J. Herbert Smith, Mrs. J. G. Huntley and Albert D. Pearce, owners of the property on the northeast corner of North Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, state that they have no plans for the immediate future.

Public Remains Calm
McCoy's Weird Trail
Meters For Phones
A Curb On Business

By Gil A. Cowan

Editorial writers today are comparing the thoughts of President Coolidge with those of John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the presidency.

Others are eulogizing the record of the president and some praising the progressiveness of Mr. Davis. It is safe to say, however, that the general public is not overly concerned in what promises to be one of the closest political fights of the century.

Just why there is a lethargy in national affairs cannot be told, but the writer believes it is the realization of the mass of voters that the usual political hokum is being spread.

Practically all local candidates for office, as well as presidential aspirants, have their publicity men working overtime trying to stir up issues.

Strange how Dunlap and Leopold and Loeb have sunk into insignificance in the crime news of the day since Kid McCoy turned loose with a few stray shots. He provided the super-sensation which reads like fiction and yet no one would believe the story were it published in a magazine.

Think of a man supposedly killing a woman he said he loved dearly, waking up his mother and sister in the middle of the night to talk with them, going to a police station in a daze, taking officers back to the scene of the killing but not allowing them to know the secret of the death chamber, then going forth hunting all those he wanted to kill, shooting a man and wife who had aided in his estrangement with the dead woman, holding a mock auction and using his revolver as a "hammer," ordering the men entering the room to divest themselves of valuables and then take off their pants, shooting a millionaire as he tried to escape the antique shop where the serio-comic event was taking place—then being captured by a policeman while racing on the running boards of motorcars.

Why, you cannot believe it all to be true—a story which completely demoralized the news gathering forces of a great city as events unravelled faster than human comprehension was able to absorb them. It was a trail that led through the divorce mill of the superior court to apartments where people live under assumed names, from an antique shop to a conference over a near beer in a corn beef establishment, from police station to stores and finally to jail.

They say that Selby is in a daze from the events of the last seventy-two hours. He is no more dazed than the people who read of his exploits. It will be weeks before the whole story will be told, it is so intricate, so amazing, so ridiculous and yet so serious.

And we are at loss to know what was "ailing the Kid."

Metered phone service is a subject now before the state railroad commission. Because of the proximity of Los Angeles and Glendale, and due to the fact that many have business interests in the city, the residents of this city should be awakened to the costliness of such an innovation.

If we are not mistaken it was first tried in Bellingham, Wash., where the inventor of a phone meter resides. With civic pride Bellingham paid the price of its inventor's device and wherever the toll taker has gone business ruin has followed in its wake.

There is nothing quite so demoralizing on business over the telephone as a meter and in this country of magnificent distances the utility of the telephone cannot be curbed.

The State Railroad commission cannot with equity permit its use to raise the revenue of the Southern California Telephone company. Other methods may be used, but not the meter, if the patrons understand the situation.

Ohio Night Will Be Celebrated at Bowl

"Ohio Night" will be celebrated in Hollywood Bowl on Tuesday, August 19, according to announcement made by Captain Frank M. Bering, secretary of the Ohio State Societies of Southern California. All who have at any time claimed Ohio as the home state are urged to attend the Bowl concert that night when the program will center around Madame Marguerite Melville-Liszniewska, director of piano study in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. A bloc of seats in the center of the great outdoor theatre will be reserved for Ohioans, and admission will be only 50 cents.

Madame Liszniewska is one of the prominent pedagogues and soloists of her state. Ernest Bloch, composer-teacher of Cleveland, was another distinguished Ohioan to appear in the Bowl this summer, but it is expected that Tuesday's audience will outnumber all previous ones. Alfred Hertz will conduct the Bowl Symphony orchestra of 100 players in a program including Wagner's Flying Dutchman overture, Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite. Ravel's delightful ultramodern Mother Goose Suite, and Tschaikowsky's Caprice Italien.

Friday, August 22, is to be request night. Bowl patrons are invited to mail Mr. Hertz, 7237 Franklin avenue, Hollywood, not later than August 19, their requests for the program that evening.
